In 2001, Dylan Lauren pioneered the world’s largest confectionery emporium and lifestyle brand, Dylan’s Candy Bar. Its mission is to merge fashion, art and pop culture with candy to ignite the creative spirit and inner child in everyone that visits. This innovative concept has changed the way the world experiences candy today.

Dylan’s Candy Bar houses over 7,000 confections, boasting an unparalleled selection of candies and candy-related gifts from around the world. Dylan’s Candy Bar continues to attract people of all ages with its state of the art décor and trend-setting product mix.
Dylan’s Candy Bar stores transport guests to a modern-day candy haven with the splendor of Willy Wonka’s Factory, the sweet nostalgia of Candy Land and the magic of Disneyland. Its pop art inspired installations such as the iconic lollipop tree, giant candy cane columns and candy-embedded staircases epitomize retail-tainment. Dylan’s aims to create an ultra-sensory experience for all guests through an imaginative décor and product mix, delectable smells and interactive elements like a historical timeline of candy. Dylan’s Candy Bar gives its customers not just a sugar high, but also a sweet-lasting euphoria.

Dylan’s Candy Bar leverages partnerships, giveaways, custom content and more through social media. They are highly active on social, encouraging engagement from their ever-increasing fan base.
Dylan’s Candy Bar attracts people of all ages and backgrounds from across the globe. While most people assume candy is just for kids, Dylan’s Candy Bar appeals to the young and the young-at-heart. The average customer is actually 30 years old, those who appreciate premium brands that cater to a sense of creativity, have a desire for discovery and a craving for experiences. Dylan’s Candy Bar melts the hearts of even the most sophisticated, seen-it-all shoppers. This explains the brand’s impressive fan base of over 200 celebrities and influencers including Oprah Winfrey, Michelle Obama, Madonna, Taylor Swift, Janet Jackson, David Beckham, Alex Rodriquez, Steven Spielberg and Hugh Jackman.
Dylan Lauren, known to many as the “Candy Queen,” is the founder and CEO of Dylan’s Candy Bar. She is the face of the brand as well as the creative and strategic force behind it. In 2001, she realized her childhood dream of opening the world’s largest candy store that merges fashion, art and pop culture with candy to awaken the creative spirit and inner child in everyone that visits. Since then, Dylan has opened 25 locations and plans to expand her candy empire worldwide.

Dylan has been credited with changing the face of the candy industry and the way people view candy. Her stores are considered by many “the most original candy emporiums on the planet” and “must-see innovative cultural icons in America.”

Dylan is also the author of Dylan’s Candy Bar: Unwrap Your Sweet Life. Her book shares Dylan’s “candy-centric” tips for entertaining, decorating and gift-giving for every occasion with her colorfully chic, signature style. Dylan has been featured on over 31 magazine covers as well as appeared on top national shows such as Oprah, the Today Show, CBS Sunday Morning and Project Runway.

Upon a lifelong love of animals, Dylan created a foundation, Dylan’s Candy BarN, to help raise awareness and funding for homeless animals.

As the daughter of legendary fashion icons Ralph and Ricky Lauren, Dylan was immersed at an early age in design, art and fashion. After graduating from Duke University with a major in Art History, she traveled in search of the world’s most exciting confections. In addition to taste testing candy, Dylan’s hobbies consist of athletics, dancing, traveling and being with loved ones.

Dylan and her husband, Paul Arrouet, live in New York City. They have boy & girl twins, Cooper Blue and Kingsley Rainbow, sweetly nicknamed “The Twinkies”. They all adore their rescue dog, Jersey.
Dylan’s Candy Bar and Dylan Lauren are often featured in the media. From magazine covers to features on reputable programs like Oprah, The Today Show, Good Morning America, CBS Sunday Morning and CNN, the brand has become iconic.
